Spring Field Ornithology

March 23–May 15, 2011

• Wednesday evening lectures
• Weekend field trips
• Overnight trips

Learn from the best!

This popular 8-week birding course is taught by Dr. Steve Kress and assisted by staff from the Cornell Lab of Ornithology and local expert birders.

Lectures feature instruction by Dr. Kress, movies, guest speakers, two lab classes, and a night hike.

Weekly field trips to birding hotspots across central New York are tailored for beginning, intermediate, and advanced birders.

Overnight birding extravaganzas to Montezuma National Wildlife Refuge and Cape May, New Jersey.

Students may sign up separately for lectures ($160), field trips ($195*), or overnight trips ($300). Cost for the full class is $620. Discounts for Cornell Lab members and early registration.

*$10 off if enrolled by March 1st

www.birds.cornell.edu/sfo 607-254-2466